DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 8-10 & 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jang et al. (US 6,169,297) in view of Shibata (JP 8-274,372).

Re claims 8-10, Jang et al. teach in Fig.1b an electrode structure having an ohmic contact area on a p-type III group nitride semiconductor layer (GaN), comprising first (Pt), second (Ni) and third (Au) electrode layers successively stacked on said semiconductor layer, said first electrode layer comprising Pt, said second electrode layer comprising Ni, and said third electrode layer comprising Au and covering an entire area of said ohmic contact area, wherein said first electrode layer has a thickness in a range from 1 to 5,000 nm, wherein said second electrode layer has a thickness in a range from 10 to 1,000 nm. See also Col.4, lines 28-56.

Jang et al. do not explicitly teach the first electrode layer comprising Ti.

However, Shibata teaches in Fig.1 an electrode structure having a Ti electrode layer, Ni electrode layer, and Au electrode layer successively stacked on a P-GaN.

Art Unit: 2811

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to substitute Pt layer of Jang with Ti layer as taught by Shibata since Pt and Ti layers are art recognized good electrode material for p-type GaN semiconductor layer.

Re claim 12, Jang et al. as modified by Shibata et al. do not teach the first electrode layer comprises a nitride of a metal included in said first metal group and also comprises a compound of Ga and Ni. However, this feature is inherent because the Shibata's metal electrode structure is also treated by thermal process and the electrode structure & material of Shibata is identical to the claimed electrode structure & material.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-3, 5 & 19-29 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 8-10 & 12 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
